

Postgraduate National Co-ordinator

Friends International is an evangelical mission agency dedicated to encouraging and equipping UK churches to reach international students for Christ. We currently have 63 Field Staff and Associates working in 32 university towns and cities across the UK.

As the Postgraduate National Co-ordinator you will fulfil a vital role in pioneering and developing ministry to the 280,000+ international postgraduate students (IPS) in the UK. This will involve: seeking to develop an integrated approach to IPS ministry across FI in conjunction with FI staff; working in partnership with existing Christian postgraduate-led groups; pioneering new models of outreach to IPS; also developing and providing resources and material for IPS ministry. Personal evangelism and discipleship with international students will also be a key component of the work, as you seek to provide a model for others.

You will be a:

- A visionary able to prioritise and think strategically
- A natural networker
- A team builder with gifts of encouragement and pastoral care
- Committed to pursuing unity and building bridges across the evangelical spectrum
- A self-starter, able to manage time and resources well
- An active member of your local church
- Willing to raise 100% personal support from churches and individuals – there is some initial funding available.
